

What is the UK National Rural Network?

The UK National Rural Network (UK NRN) is comprised of the four rural development programme networks in Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland and England.

Our key aim is to support and add value to the delivery of the four Rural Development Plan (RDP) programmes through the exchange of experiences, transfer of knowledge and sharing of ideas.

We provide a direct link to the European Commission, the European Network for Rural Development (ENRD) and other Member State networks across Europe.

We are a resource for everybody involved with, or with an interest in, the four RDP programmes in the UK.

We act as a one-stop shop for information at the UK level by providing:

- A comprehensive website
- A project database
- Organising events and activities

UK NRN Steering Group

This group brings together representatives from the 4 Network Units and Managing Authorities in England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

The aim of the UK NRN Steering Group is to ensure that the UK National Rural Network (UK NRN) acts as an effective hub between the 4 UK countries to support the exchange of ideas and experience and ensure that EU regulatory requirements are fulfilled.

It also maintains oversight of the UK NRN and its Action Plan through working with the UK NRN provider to agree objectives and communicate the priorities of the UK Managing Authorities and country networks.
